Fife Council Education and Children's Service has developed across our special school and mainstream sectors, a depth and range of strategies to support children and young people with autism spectrum disorders. These would include the use of, Social stories, TEACHH, visual strategies, PECS and boardmaker symbols, transition arrangements, relationships and sexual health programmes, autism friendly environment.	Additionally there is a dedicated autism team (ASIST - Autism Spectrum Information and Support Team) that is now well established to support schools and develop their practice and will work with individual pupils. The Educational Psychology services has progressively developed its capacity, knowledge and skills to provide expert advice on autism and support for individual pupils and the education staff who work with them. Whilst the strategies above will share common features with Applied Behavioural Analysis, we do not provide Applied Behavioural Analysis provision for pupils so information is not held under Section 17 of the FOI (Scotland) Act 2002.	n/a	n/a	n/a	n/a
